My Song in the Night.

The long dark night has passed, Heavy with grief and fears, And streaming up the eastern sky The blessed light appears. Then who hast done so much for me, What can I do this day for thee?

For I was sick with fear, Thy billows ran so high; They washed my feet from on the rock, They shut out star and sky; But still the Pilot held my hand, And drew me safely to the land.

" Now lean on me," he saith, "And not on broken reeds; Lean hard, thou art so faint and weak; I'll care for all thy needs: "I'll bear thy burdens, soothe thy fears, And wipe away thy falling tears."

I take thee at thy word, O Lord, my Rock, my strength! Away, false fears and anxious cares, Heaven will be reached at length; And till I gain that blessed shore, Help me each day to serve thee more.

WHAT A WOMAN DID.

When I first came to New York, at the age of twelve years to seek my fortune, I can call myself a precocious chap without danger of being accused of an unusual degree of self-appreciation. I was quick to learn everything, the bad as well as the good. My employer used profane language. 1 picked up the oaths he dropped with a naturalness that surprised even myself. The boys in the office all chewed tobacco. This was a little the hardest job I ever attempted, but after two weeks of nausea and victorious, and could get away with my paper a day with the best of them.

One afternuon I was sent with a note from adjudged. my employer to a house in the upper part of the city. I hadn't any thing to read, but I had 4, section 31, "all vacancies occuring in the and said: tance I did not notice who were beside me, but

" Alone, ma'am."

"How long has your mother been dead?" and the dear woman looked away from my face, and waited until I could speak.

"Two years," I answered.

"And did you love her?" came next. "Dearly," was all I could say. She was silent a moment, and then said so

Here she got at every point of my life, and before I bade her good-bye it was arranged that I should spend two evenings of each week at her house, and study on these occasions just what she thought best. #### THE JUDICIAL EMBROGLIO.

The Opinion of His Honor Judge Kerr, in the Matter of Judge John M. Cloud vs. Judge Thos. J. Wilson.

It will be remembered that at the last term of Orange Superior Court, His Honor Judge Kerr presiding, Judge Cloud brought action against Judge Thomas J. Wilson, of the 8th Judicial District, claiming that under the Constitution the election of Judge Wilson was illegal and that he had a right to hold over. The case commenced in Yadkin county Court, but was removed to Orange. We herewith append the decision of Judge Kerr in full: State of North Carolina, O rage County Superior Court-Fall Term, 1874

No one not elected at the first election could make any claim under this section to hold for a term of eight years after the 1st Thursday of August, 1870, which has been decided to be the next regular election for members of the General Assembly. Nor could the term of the mere appointee have begun "upon the approval of this Constitution by the Congress of the United States," as sec. 32 prescribes the time when the term of those elected at the first election was to begin and end; so section 31 prescribes the time when successors to appointees are to commence to discharge their duties, viz: when the regular election for Judges, which was expected to occur every four years, should take place, and distinguished from the regular elections for members of the General Assembly, which were to occur every two years as prescribed in Art. And, in this connection, was it not right, gentlemen, that I should refer to Benjamin F. Butler, who, in accepting his last nomination, gave as his chief reason for wishing to remain in Congress, his election to be held for Judges, which it will be will and ability to still further bind and repress the Southern people? But the time had passed by when his persecuting cry found a ready response in the hearts of his constituents. The great question is: is now the proper time to raise new issues? Is it prudent to risk all the fruits of our late victory upon another M appeal to the people, when that appeal is disapproved of by many of our friends? Is it discreet to create a division in our own ranks, and then present a divided front to an enemy, beaten at present, but watchful and sagacious to avail themselves of any advantage which our per dissensions may afford them?

This is more obvious when we reflect that a majority already elected to the legislature have P. M. the pow to submit to the people all the amend- ACH ments which are necessary. The agitation will be confined to the legislatere, and their work submitted to the people, conwho, if they approve will adopt, if they disapprove will reject. It is also most desirable to avoid the expense attending a convention. The people of North Carolina are worn down by taxation, poor and impoverished, and can bear but few more burdens.

Besides all this we need peace and repose. History but repeats itself. No free people can prosper who are frequently altering their fundamental law. FOUR MAD COWS AT LARGE-A MAN DISEM-

About 11 o'clock on Saturday morning four wild cows were being driven along Charles street, Baltimore, and when crossing Baltimore street they escaped from the rope which bound them and from their drivers, and ran at a fur ious pace down Baltimore street, taking the full width of the street, tossing their heads and lashing their tails, as if in enjoyment of their newly acquired liberty. The streets at that nour were full of pedestrians, who ran in affright into the adjacent stores for safety while a large crowd of men and boys followed after the cattle. Two of the enraged animals turned down Light street toward the wharf, knocking down a lady and injuring her slightly. One continued down Butimore street to Calvert, when it was caught and secured by Sergeant Parks, Officer Mitchell, and several citizens. The other ran out North Calvert street, creating an alarm along that street until Monument To the Editors of the Oxford Leader :- It is street was reached, which the animal selected

The difference as to the dimensions of the object are of little consequence.

STATE CONVENTION, -As far as we have been able to ascertain, the voice of the people in this section of country is not in favor of a State Convention. And we are inclined to believe that the western portion of the State generally is opposed to the calling of a Convention-not to 40, and after voting, went as they came. that the people are opposed to having the State Constitution amended, but they fear that the movement would be unwise at this time. There are even doubts if a two-thirds majority of the Legislature is in favor of calling a Convention. We notice some of the Radical leaders about to operate with. We will give the opinions of prominent gentlemen for and against the Conprominent gentlemen for and against the Con-

The Wilmington Star says: "The watchword of the Democratic Liberal party is 'Sagacity.' From the tone of the Democratic press and the atterances of Democratic politiclans since the election, it is apparent that the policy of the victorious party will be one of the atmost liberalism, prudence and sagacity."

The Richmond Enquirer says: "The Democratic party realizing its new and heavy responsibilities, must meet them in a spirit of the broadest patriotism, nationality, and liberality."

The Richmond Whig says: "There is every and in the South on the subject since the elec-tions, that the spirit of the party is just as it should be, even in the hour of its exultant success—generous, conciliutory, tolerant, and so inde-pendently putriotic as to raise no fear in any pression is of renewed kindness to the colored the $100, but obtained his mules, and considerman's mind that this organization, too, will prove to be more of a politicians' than a people's party. The Louisville Courier says: " Let there be no foolishness over our victory. Steady's the word.

A party may be seriously demoralized by success. This is but the beginning of the end, no the end. The meaning of it is that we have country to govern and to save."

Senator Bayard, a gentleman of marked and growing influence in the councils of his party says: "We should not be rashly, idly jubilant but substitute a deeper feeling."

THE PRESIDENT AND THE SOUTH .- The N Y. Herald's Washington despatches state that it is the determination of the President to ina gurate a new policy of liberality towards th Southern States. He is credited with the delaration that "proscription on account of the rebellion shall no longer be continued with n consent." This means something, if nothing more at present than trying to catch the 'pop' lar breeze, for future operations.

ELECTION SCENES IN NEW ORLEANS. A special from New Orleans, under date of

Monday, to the New York Tribunr, a leading Republican paper, gives the following interesting account of the manner of voting in that city

"A quieter election than that of to-day was never known in New Orleans. Business was nore generally suspended than is usually the case on Sunday. The white men of the city neglected every other employment for that of voting and bringing out others, while the colored men, though not quite so active, were, for at least a part of the day zealous and stirring in the same work. It was soon apparent, how-In the House of Representatives, Mr. Jas. L. Robinson, of Macon, was elected Speaker, refind many colored men willing and anxious to vote the Conservative ticket, if guaranteed protection from the roughs of their own race. This protection was readily afforded. Whenever a ballot, the whites stood aside to give him precedence in the long line of voters awaiting their turn, and volunteers were always ready to escort them home. In several cases, however, Conservative colored men, relying upon the strength of numbers, came in bodies of from 12 These new and unexpected scenes in a Louisi-ana election elated the Conservatives highy, and the Radicals were correspondingly lepressed, so that the latter seemed to lose all heart long before the contest was brought to a

REVIVING THE REBELLION.

It is said that one of the most notable features of the grand political demonstration of the Conservatives at Montgomery, Ala., the other night was the number of United States flags on public and private buildings- A dispatch says:

"Every man who could make, beg, or borrow a star-spangled banner bad it floating from his house, and all were greeted with cheers by the people, fifteen thousand in number. It was the grandest Union demonstration witnessed in the South since the war. Some of the negroes reason to believe, from what has been written are going about selecting new masters, under the impression that they are to be sold again into slavery. The whites in vain endeavor to reassure them. The Conservative blacks mingled with the whites in the procession last night,

COUNTERFEIT MONEY .- A gentleman informs us, on the authority of Mr. Murrill, of the Piedmont Press, published at Hickory Tavern, that quite a large sum of counterfeit money was left in that place by attaches or hangers on of Robinson's circus. Of course we cannot believe that the management of this great show is knowing to or responsible for the fact, but there are always a class of "bummers" and swindlers following in the wake of such establishments, and as we have the word of a gentleman in every way reliable to the effect that a considerable quantity of the spurious currency was actually distributed among the good people of Hickory Tavern, it becomes our duty to warn our citizens to be on their guard .-

BEGINNING TO LEARN .- The colored people are slowly but expensively learning who their true friends are. Those of them who put their money on deposit in what is known as the "Freedman's Savings Bank" have lost every cent of their hard earnings by the rognery of colored man approached with a Conservative Yankee officials and their agents. BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION .- The Wilmington Star of the 8th inst., says: The Baptist State Convention, which has been in session in this city since Wednesday last, has adjourned. The deliberations of the body were harmonious and interesting and a large amount of business, especially in the matter of missions, was accomplished. The Convention numbered among its delegates many of the leading and most influential ministers in the bounds of its jurisdiction-men of talent, ability and zealous for the interests of their church and denomination. In these efforts they were ably and materially seconded by Rev. Dr. Jones, of Richmond, Va. We learn that, as one of the incidents at the Salisbury Fair, a sharper met with a man having a pair of mules for sale, the price of which was $300. A trade was made, the sharper paying in a check purporting to be for $400 on some bank, and receiving from the mule seller $100 in cash as the difference. RITUALISM.—The subject of the Ritual engrossed much of the time of the late session of the Protestant Episcopal General Convention in New York. The House of Deputies by a large vote, finally passed resolutions embodying a canon taking tolerably high anti-ritual ground. This was objectionable to the Bishops, and a conference was agreed to. An amended canon was approved by both houses. The canon as finally adopted does not forbid the use of incense and crucifixes during the celebration of the holy encharist. Many members declared that though they disapproved of the use of incense and erneifixes, they would not vote for a canon asserting that these things prepares machinery wherewith the Bishops may proceed against ritualistic practices in their respective dioceses when they believe there is sufficient reason so to do. They are to cite offending clergymen before them, make proper investigation and dispose of the matter according to their judgment. Mr. Bellis commenced packing his Beatrice, last year, (from 5,000 trees) on the 5th of June, shipped them to New York, where they ALL arrived in ferfect order, and sold for $6 to $8 per bushel crate.—Here they will ripen from the 12th to the 20th of June. ### Valuable Steam Mill Manufacturing Property FOR SALE.

THIS PROPERTY, long and favorably known as the "Wachovia Mills," is well located, within a few hundred yards of the Main Street in the North-ern part of Salem, N. C., and within about one hundred yards of the well known manufacturing establishment of F. & H. Fries, and only a short distance from the town of Winston.

The building is one of the most substantially built houses in the State, and well adapted for manufacturing purposes, in addition to the milling business, there being ample room for Cotton and Wool Machinery, it having been originally constructed for that purposes. that purpose.

The main building is 50 x 75 feet, 31 stories high with 2 story attachments at either end, 25 x 50 feet, for offices, packing, engine and boiler rooms—all brick and recently recovered with tin.

The Mill Machinery consists of 3 setts of Burrs, and all other necessaries complete.

A Good 60 Horse Power Engine

A large Brick Warehouse. 6 Cottage Dwellings, fronting on

3 Acres of Ground with plenty available space for other buildings. SPECIAL NOTICE.

Persons seeking a good location (a place for good home custom) for the manufacture of cotton goods, will find this property desirable, on account of the immense amount of trade of Salem and Winston, extending far back into the adjoining and Western counties and into Virginia.

If desired, the dwellings, with sufficient ground, will be sold separate from the other property. They are now yielding in rents, after paying insurance and taxes, about 16 per cent. on the amount asked for them.

In order to realize on the property, a bargain will be given, and if prefered, time will be given on part of the purchase money. A good title guaranteed. Winston, N. C., Nov. 10. 1874.-46.
